When you search for the truth... You better pray you don't find it.

A 20 year old, runs away from his conservative Christian father to the remote town where his mother died two years ago. He meets an alluring young woman. They search for answers about his mother's death and discover a terrifying entity in the woods.

Inspired by declassified top secret files about the "Falcon Lake Incident", a UFO encounter near a remote town in Canada, which occurred on May 20, 1967. In 2010, a Chicago woman, Donna Thomas is mysteriously killed while studying a rare wild plant in the woods near Falcon Lake. She was staying with her brother, UCLA plasma quantum physics scientist, Dr. Mike Verrücktman, who came to Falcon Lake to investigate the UFO incident. She was found with part of with her head and torso burned.

2 years later, her son Dan, a disgruntled 20 year old, with his unforgiving conservative Christian father, hits the breaking point with his father and leaves home. He travels to Falcon Lake to stay with his uncle Mike. Shortly after he arrives, he meets a beautiful, alluring young woman, Cheyna, and together they search for answers about his mother's death. They find out more than they want, discovering a strange entity in the woods. When the entity takes an interest in them, the story goes from an adventurous quest for answers to a terrifying life and death show down.
